Internet, email and computer use policy & declaration – IT@RAMS

1. PREAMBLE

You have received this declaration because you are being provided with access to IT services. These are provided in support of the activities being done by your organisation, which are aimed at improving the health and wellbeing of the Aboriginal community

By signing this declaration, you acknowledge the organisation's stated objective above, and will use the IT services provided with your best efforts to support those objectives.

2. Introduction

IT@RAMS recognises the usefulness of Internet, Email and Computer facilities (together referred to as the "IT Services") as research, communication and work tools. This policy sets out the appropriate standards of behaviour for users accessing all online and computer facilities.

IT Services are provided in support of the goals and objectives of the organisation. Access to IT Services is a privilege. They are provided only to employees who:

- Adhere to the Computer, Email and Internet usage policies.
- Ensure that IT Services are only used in a lawful and professional manner.

Violation of these policies could result in disciplinary and/or legal action, leading up to and including termination of employment. Employees may also be held personally liable for damages caused by any violations of this policy.

All employees are required to acknowledge receipt of and confirm that they have understood and agree to abide by the rules hereunder.

This policy does not form part of an employee's contract of employment or any other contract.

If you are unsure about any matter covered by this policy, you should seek the assistance of your supervisor, the IT Helpdesk or the Regional IT Manager.

I acknowledge receiving this policy, which contains important information about conditions for my use of the IT Service. I confirm that I have read and understood the information contained in the policy and agree to comply with the requirements it contains.

I shall not, either during or after my period of employment/engagement with Durri, except in the proper course of my duties or as permitted by Durri or as required by law, divulge to any person any confidential information concerning:

- patient personal, health and financial information
- the business or financial arrangements of Durri or related company
- any of the dealings, transactions or affairs of Durri or related company.

The contractual arrangement between Durri and its employees/contractors is founded on trust. I undertake not to knowingly access any confidential information about the business of Durri, patients or patient medical information, unless such information is essential for me to properly and efficiently perform my duties. I am aware that these conditions extend to unnecessary discussion of confidential information within Durri. I understand that any breach of this trust will render me liable to disciplinary action, termination and/or civil proceedings.

I further undertake to inform my supervisor immediately if I become aware of any breach of privacy or security relating to the information I access in the course of my duties.

This restriction ceases to apply to any information or knowledge that subsequently comes into the public domain by way of authorised disclosure.

All confidential records, documents and other papers together with any copies or extracts thereof in my possession will be returned to Durri on the termination of my employment.
